To Whom it May Concern:

Buckley's Plant Maintenance is a family owned business based in the Illawarra area and employing 25 people. Our business is a heavy earthmoving maintenance and support company with a large workshop and more than 15 service support vehicles on the road throughout the Illawarra and Southern NSW.

We were approached early in 2009 about considering the use of Soy Bio Fuel to power our road fleet and our 15 machines out in the field. Upon doing some research into the benefits of taking on such a fuel, we found no negatives & found the pricing very competitive, not to mention the tonnes of carbon that we are helping to alleviate from the environment.

We have been using B20 Bio Diesel for 8 months now with excellent results both in fuel consumption, cleaner filters, noticeably less exhaust emissions and have been directly responsible for reducing our carbon output by about 100 tons.

I would have no problem encouraging any business, big or small to take the responsible and environmental step towards a sustainable energy with the use of Soy Bio Diesel & I look forward to continuing to be a part of a product and organisation that in its own way is trying to change the world & reduce our dependence on traditional fossil fuels.

Yours Truly,
