

BIODIESEL TESTIMONIAL

DARYL HANNAH

The Sustainable Biofuels Alliance, set up by actress Daryl Hannah together with country singer Willie Nelson, is bringing together activists and scientists to give consumers better guidance on clean fuels. Ms. Hannah has been using biodiesel for five years to fuel her 1983 Chevy El Camino.

When asked what motivated her to dump the (petroleum) pump she says, "It made sense to me as soon as I found out it was even a possibility because it's so much cleaner burning. It gets us off of our dependency on fossil fuels and foreign oil as well so we don't have to go to war for oil."

"I want biofuels that are grown and produced in a sustainable manner," she said. "I would not buy biodiesel made from palm oil... or from a bunch of animals poured in a vat."
